Both Events are free and open to the Public. No registration required.

For information regarding the Neuro-Salon and the Neuro-Humanities Entanglement Conference, please check for updates on our link: www.coa.gatech.edu/event/georgia-tech-neuro-humanities-entanglement-conference-and-neuro-salon

For additional inquiries, contact the Organizer, Dr. Barbara Maria Stafford: barbara.stafford@lcc.gatech.edu

For questions about directions, contact Faraz Kamili: (404) 386-8811
Continuing the Salon tradition at Georgia Tech, this event highlights encounters among cognitive science, neuroscience, biological sciences, and engineering with the humanities, social sciences, and the arts.

Emerging research in the brain sciences has set into motion fundamental questions relating to social, political, aesthetic, and scientific discoveries. This is an exciting research moment because it opens the opportunity for crafting theoretical and practical convergences between major issues that have long bedeviled the Liberal Arts with those arising in the Neurosciences. For example: what does it take to persuade—to move people from one position to another, or to get them to care about an event that never before stirred their interest? The old rhetorical and sociological conundrum of how one spurs a critical mass of people to alter their vision of themselves as individuals is now entangled with neural circuitry, empathetic processing, and legal disputes over conscious actions. Cognition, in short, has been brought into the heart of everyday life. Such new and unusual types of cross-disciplinary engagement offer a bold opportunity to rethink our educational programs and institutions in light of major research initiatives held in common.

~ Barbara Maria Stafford
Distinguished Visiting Professor, H. Bruce McEver Program for Engineering and Liberal Arts, College of Architecture, College of Engineering, Schools of Mechanical and Biomedical Engineering, Georgia Tech

Dr. Elizabeth Liebman
Our generous patron and donor

Alan Balfour
Dean, College of Architecture

George Johnston
Chair, School of Architecture

Faraz Kamili
Georgia Institute of Technology

Kenneth J. Knoespel
McEver Professor of Engineering and Liberal Arts, Ivan Allen College of Liberal Arts

Marc Merlin
The Atlanta Science Tavern

John Peponis
Associate Chair, School of Architecture

Jacqueline Jones Royster
Dean, Ivan Allen College of Liberal Arts

Denise Smith
Associate Dean and Academic Director for Liberal Arts, SCAD Atlanta

The Center for Mind, Brain, and Culture
Emory University

The Georgia Tech College of Architecture

The Ivan Allen Institute for Advanced Studies

Program designed by Lauren Langley
LUNCH BREAK AND BOOK SIGNING

12:00 pm

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11

Opening Night Launch for the Neuro-Salon
7:00 pm to 9:30 pm
Stubbins Studio Gallery, second floor, East Architecture Building

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Time</th>
<th>Event</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| 7:00 pm     | Music Performance by the band Qurious
Catherine Quesenberry & Mike Netland |
| 7:30 pm     | Opening Remarks:
Barbara Maria Stafford,
Distinguished Visiting Professor, Georgia Tech
Alan Balfour, Dean, College of Architecture, Georgia Tech
Reading from the novel, The Tantalus Letters
by Laura Otis, Emory University |
| 7:45 pm     | This Shared Dream: A reading from a novel about Neuroplasticity, Memory, and Time
by Kathleen Ann Goonan, Visiting Professor, School of Literature, Communication, and Culture, Georgia Tech |
| 8:00 pm     | Tour of Neuro-Salon (artists will be present for Q&A)                                      |

DISCUSSION

2:30 pm

Panel: “Order from Chaos? Design Principles from Self Assembly”
Martha Grover, Constantine Dovrolis, John Peponis, and Loren Williams

BREAK

4:00 pm

Introduction: Shriradha Sengupta (Georgia Tech)

Projects on Display at the Neuro-Salon:

- Animapping - Ali Mazalek, Claudia Rebola, Paul Clifton, Scott Hoag, Andy Wu, Jason Clark, Chelsea McClinton, Sarah Nelson, Vivek Sangubhotla
- Hippocampal Memory - Audrius Plioplys
- Crystal Palace - Emergent Formations - Daniel Baerleken, Gernot Riether, Aaron Coffman, Almir Divanovic, Daniel Dixon, Emilio Hernandez, Azzam Issa, Cole Loomis
- Julie - David Bashwiner
- Incline - Frederick Pearsall & Matthew Swarts
- A Fraction Away from Understanding – Aude Sapere - Harris Dimitropoulos
- Vibrating Glove - Jun Ueda
- A Camera Obscura Installation - James Murray, Patrick Di Rito, and Shota Vashakmadze
- Consider Attention - Sonit Bafna
THURSDAY, APRIL 12
TSRB Auditorium 125 (Technology Square Research Building)

9:00 am  Opening Remarks: Jacqueline Jones Royster (Dean, Ivan Allen College of Liberal Arts), Kenneth J. Knoespel (Director, Ivan Allen Institute for Advanced Studies), Barbara Maria Stafford (Distinguished Visiting Professor, Georgia Tech)

9:30 am  Introduction: Carol Colatrella (School of Literature, Communication, and Culture, Georgia Tech)
“How Religions Engage our Mental Machinery”
Robert McCauley (Director, Emory University Center for Mind, Brain, and Culture)

10:15 am  BREAK

10:30 am  “Clinical Models of Spirituality: Their Perils and Promise”
Ann Benvenuti (Zygon Center for Religion and Science) and Elizabeth Davenport (University of Chicago)

11:15 am  DISCUSSION OF MORNING PAPERS

12:00 pm  LUNCH BREAK AND BOOK SIGNING
Book signing at Barnes & Noble @ Georgia Tech Bookstore
48 5th Street NW, Atlanta, GA 30308

1:00 pm  Panel: “Memory in Psychology, Literature and Art”
Lisa Yaszek, Laura Otis, Patricia Bauer, Audrius Plioplys, and commentary by Noëlle Batt (L'Universite Paris VIII)

2:00 pm  Introduction: Jason Freeman (School of Music and Center for Music Technology, Georgia Tech)
“Neural Loci of Sensory Illusions: How We Interpret Art and Music,” Ari Rosenberg (Washington University Medical Center, St. Louis)

“Musical Manipulation in Film: A Theory of Mechanism”
David Bashwiner (University of New Mexico, Albuquerque)

FRIDAY, APRIL 13
TSRB Auditorium 125 (Technology Square Research Building)

9:30 am  Introduction: Kathleen Goonan (Visiting Professor, School of Literature, Communication, and Culture, Georgia Tech)
“Cognitive Creative Work of Psychedelic Visions”
Frank Echenhofer (California Institute of Integral Studies)

11:00 am  Introduction: Michael Nitsche (School of Literature, Communication, and Culture, Georgia Tech)
Lecture and Mise-en-scène: “Cognition and Agency in Stéphane Mallarmé’s Staging of the Book”
Anna Amar (Minnesota State University Moorhead)
Discussion: “Mallarmé and the Capabilities of the Book”
Yves Abrioux (Professor of English Literature, L'Universite Paris VIII)